Healthcare EVS Built Around Your Environment

Servicon partners with healthcare organizations to build EVS programs around the needs of each patient care environment. Experienced teams and healthcare-specific training help maintain the standards your hospital depends on every day.

Our programs support infection prevention and the environment of care while giving healthcare leaders greater visibility into EVS performance.

Healthcare Experience

Your EVS program plays an important role in maintaining a safe environment for patients and staff. Servicon prepares teams specifically for healthcare, with training grounded in the protocols and expectations of patient care environments.

Experienced leadership keeps your program aligned with facility standards and supports consistent performance as operational needs change.

Industry Leadership

Your EVS partner should understand the healthcare community you serve. Servicon maintains an active role in Southern California healthcare through long-standing relationships with organizations that bring healthcare leaders together.

- HASD&IC Corporate Sponsor
- ACHE Corporate Sponsor
- WHA - Women in Healthcare Administration

Diversity Spend

Advance your supplier diversity goals through direct Tier 1 spend with Servicon.

- All qualifying spend with Servicon counts toward Tier 1 diversity spend
- Annual Tier 1 diversity spend with current clients exceeds $50 million

Sustainability

Support your organization's sustainability goals through an EVS program developed with environmental impact in mind.

Servicon continues to evaluate cleaning practices and equipment for responsible resource use. Our LEED Platinum headquarters in Culver City reflects the environmental standards we have established within our own operations.

Privately Owned and Operated

Get decisions made closer to your hospital. Servicon's private ownership gives local leaders the authority to respond to changing needs and keep your EVS program aligned with your organization's priorities.

Proven in Healthcare

Servicon supports complex healthcare organizations throughout Southern California, including the Los Angeles County healthcare system. Long-standing partnerships provide the experience and continuity healthcare leaders need from their EVS programs.

- 95% Patient Satisfaction
- 98% Healthcare Client Retention Over 10 Years
- 84% Employee Retention Over 5 Years

Employee retention builds valuable knowledge within your program. Over time, teams become deeply familiar with your hospital and its protocols, strengthening the support they provide in the care environment.

"The Servicon team continues to provide excellent services at Los Angeles General. The ER team is appreciative of their support and willingness to help. The team often goes above and beyond."

— Victor Pena, ER Administrator
Los Angeles General Medical Center

Innovation in Healthcare EVS

Give your EVS teams better information about the environments they support. Servicon brings technology into healthcare programs to strengthen environmental performance and give leaders greater visibility into conditions within their facilities.

Akara

Strengthen disinfection with targeted UV-C technology designed for healthcare environments. Akara records the dose delivered to surfaces during each cycle, providing documented verification of disinfection.

SpaceBot

See how conditions within your hospital change in real time. SpaceBot uses environmental data to help EVS teams direct service based on measured conditions, while logging completed cleaning to provide greater visibility into performance.

ThinkLite

Support indoor environmental quality with mobile and stationary air purification technology designed to reduce airborne particulates within healthcare spaces.

Build the EVS Program Your Hospital Needs

Create an EVS program aligned with your healthcare organization's standards and operational needs.
